

HOME INSTITUTE HAS ITS FINALS

Interesting Exercises at Waverly Extending Through the Week.

Winners of Honors

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WAVERLY, VA., May 29.—The commencement exercises of the Waverly Home Institute closed at a close Wednesday night amid scenes of unusual beauty and interest.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered on Sunday evening at the Methodist Church by Rev. H. B. Rountree, and was an able one. The school presented an interesting and pretty sight, entering the church singing "Stand Up, Stand Up, for Jesus."

The exercises of the school opened on Tuesday evening with a special by the pupils of the music department, under the training of Mrs. J. F. May, interspersed by recitations, each showing careful training and conscientious work.

On Wednesday evening several musical selections were beautifully and skillfully rendered by the advanced pupils, after which Rev. W. F. Dunaway, Jr., in his homely manner, introduced the exercises. The principal of the Woman's College, Richmond, the speaker of the evening, Professor Martin, who is well known here and has many friends and admirers, in responding paid a high tribute to the Waverly Home Institute and to the work which had furnished so many students to the Woman's College. His theme was the relation of education to life. His address was delivered with great earnestness, and was replete with elevating thought and wise advice.

Distinctions were awarded to the following young ladies in different branches of music:

Misses Alice and Gladys Johnson, Myrtle Harrison, Evelyn May, Lizzie Higgins, Emma Ragland, Pearl and Jessie Little, Mary Harris, Patsie Harrgrave, Gertrude Williams, Leola Edwards, Louise Fleetwood, Alma Mae Ellis, Margaret Spratley, Masters Tully, Spratley, John, May, Shelly Fitchett, Staley Johnson, Oscar Brittle and Julius Fannery.

Special golden distinctions were awarded in addition to those above to Misses Lizzie Higgins, Evelyn May, Alice Johnson, Pearl Little, Louise Fleetwood, May Harris, Patsie Harrgrave, Gertrude Williams, Myrtle Harrison and Tunstall Spratley.

Honorable mention was made of Misses Marie Fitchett, Jessa Justice and Alla Mae Ellis, who would have won the golden distinction also had it not been that illness prevented them taking their last examination.

The session just closed has been a most successful one, the pupils showing marked advancement in all branches and in music.

SOUTH BOSTON HIGH SCHOOL.

Very Interesting Exercises Mark the Closing—The Graduates.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
SOUTH BOSTON, VA., May 29.—The exercises of the South Boston High School were held in the auditorium of the new building Thursday morning and evening.

The chief feature of the morning session was an able address delivered by Mr. L. S. Thomas, examiner of the district. His talk was clear-cut, interesting and beneficial. A large number of certificates of promotion were awarded by Professor Friend, the principal, among those who deserve special mention were Little May, Nesbitt, who received a gold medal; Master James Jenkins, a pony, and Master Malcom, who also received a gold medal.

These were given them by their parents as tokens of appreciation for having led their children in some of the highest honors. They were delivered by Mr. H. J. Watkins, one of the members of the board of trustees, who expressed an overflowing delight over their success.

The exercises were resumed, and a more beautiful picture was never presented.

The exercises were opened with a chorus by the school, piano accompaniment being played by Miss Annie Walters. This was followed by prayer by Rev. E. E. Ewing, pastor of the Trinity Episcopal Church. The salutary by Miss Kathleen Estes, was excellent. She extended greetings to each of the graduates, and the school faculty, patrons and friends, and gracefully spoke of this first commencement in the new building with pride. She was followed by Miss Martha Bedford Yancy, with an excellent essay on "Our School and Its Growth."

Miss Maude Richardson read a most witty paper on "Class History and Prophecy," and was followed by a brief address by Mr. H. J. Watkins, who referred to Mr. Wilson, who had been at the head of educational matters for the past thirty years. Mr. Wilson was at his best, and displayed great oratorical powers, and quite often into the realms of eloquence.

Next came the delivery of diplomas to the four "sweet girl" graduates, viz., Misses Louise, Fitchett, and Miss Martha Bedford Yancy, second honor; Miss Kathleen Estes and Miss Maude Richardson. These young ladies enjoy the honor of having received sixteen to eighteen years of age, and also of being the first graduates of the new school, and having their class motto: "Be ye honorable in all things." Their colors are green and white. The diplomas were delivered by Hon. Joseph Stebbins, Jr., in a witty and humorous address.

The valedictory by Miss Lila Harrell was exceptionally fine, and she deserves credit for the work she has accomplished during the past session in carrying off first honors in the graduating class. As a token of their appreciation, her parents presented her with a beautiful gold bracelet.

After a brief address by County Superintendent W. H. Bessie, on the subject of the schools, and the skillful direction of Mrs. Carrie V. Clarke closed the exercises.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE ENDS.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Session at West Point Closes After Very Interesting Meeting.

Most of the ministers and delegates returned to their homes to-day. The next session will be held with Trinity Church, East Yorking session of the last day. Rev. Mr. Deshaize reported on colportage and offered resolutions commending the colporteur, J. S. Hunter, and the Advocate and to sustain a colporteur in the field; to make a small assessment to pay for the work, and to appoint a colporteur board.

Mr. C. W. Hartwick was called on to speak on "Business Methods in Church Management." He spoke of the various plans tried, and commended that which most nearly secures an offering from every member of the church, and which develops the feeling of personal connection with the work.

A standing committee on orphanage was appointed, consisting of Dr. Tudor, Rev. Mr. Deshaize, Dr. Kelly, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Smithfield.

The following were chosen as delegates to the annual conference: R. Bland, R. T. Wilson, R. Nelson, D. F. Jackson, Alternates—Messrs. Smith, Jackson, Smithfield.

While the character of several of the "local preachers" was being passed on Rev. Mr. Deshaize made some pertinent remarks on the dignity of that office.

Rev. B. T. Hudson was called to tell "Why West Point went wet." He told his story, which was well received.

Workings of a Press Clipping Bureau.

It has come to be a necessity that any one whose name ever appears in a newspaper must be a subscriber to press clips, still there are few who understand anything about the workings of such a bureau. People take press clippings because in no other way can they learn how many papers throughout the country print stories concerning them. They must have a bureau to read every paper published. Then every line concerning them reaches their hands.

There are some forty press clipping bureaus in the United States, but few becoming a subscriber one should understand just what bureau to deal with. This is necessary, because in order to read 5,000 different publications a bureau must have a large area of working space and employ many people. Some bureaus work in one room with three or four workers. The largest bureau in the world, that is the Burrelle Press Clipping Bureau in New York, reads every publication issued, has 2,000 square feet of space, and has 100 workers.

There are dozens of departments in the Burrelle Bureau, and the one special feature is the work of those who actually read the papers. These readers sit before an inclined desk on which the paper rests. The reader scans the column, her pencil following the lines with lightning-like rapidity. The moment she sees the name of a client, down goes the pencil, and a mark is put under the name. The marvelous part is that the reader must bear in mind something like 60,000 names. It is a feat of memory that almost passes human understanding, and it is done day in and day out. The reader's mind is kept active on these subjects in a daily school of instruction. For an hour each day the readers sit silently before their desks while a forewoman takes up a list of customers, and one by one calls out the names and explains their wants. It takes ten days, an hour each day, to complete the list. On the eleventh day the forewoman begins over again. So the routine goes on, week in and week out.

Any one who hasn't a press clipping bureau or any one who hasn't the largest in the world, should write a note addressed to the Burrelle Press Clipping Bureau, which will put them in immediate touch with every paper published.

Youth Employed at Pump House Meets Horrible Death.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
CREWE, VA., May 29.—Robert Martin, the young man who was found dead yesterday, had been employed as engineer for some time, and the manner of his death can only be guessed at, as he was alone at the time.

A colored man passing by at 6 o'clock found him lying by the wheel of the gasoline engine, mangled almost beyond recognition. It is supposed that he was killed early in the afternoon. Some think he was killed in the machinery and his clothing became entangled in some way, as he was entirely nude when found, and his clothing wrapped around the clutch. The engine was running at full speed when the body was found.

There was a second son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin, and was in his eighteenth year, was quite popular among his friends.

The remains were taken to Petersburg, the old home of his parents, for interment.

HYAMS SET FREE AFTER HALF TERM

Gov. Glenn Exercises Clemency to Perform Professor—School Fund.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., May 29.—C. W. Hyams, at one time a professor in the Agricultural and Mechanical College here, but later a resident of Mecklenburg county, was granted a pardon to-day by Governor Glenn, after serving about six months of a twelve months' sentence on the Mecklenburg roads for the larceny of law books from a number of law offices in Charlotte. In his statement of reasons for the pardon the Governor says the prisoner had borne a good character and was under the influence of some drug when he fell into bad habits. He says the principal prosecutor, the solicitor, the trial judge and many citizens of Mecklenburg urge that the pardon be granted. This is done to give the man another chance, the pardon being conditioned on good behavior.

Amie Helms, also of Mecklenburg, is pardoned after serving half of a twelve months' sentence for killing his sweetheart. The Governor says the prisoner and the deceased were lovers, and he is convinced that the killing was purely accidental. Since the trial judge must have thought this else he would have given a longer sentence. The mother of the girl killed, the county officers and many citizens join in asking the pardon. He says the young man was evidently guilty of no intentional wrong, and had borne a fine character.

Three other pardons are granted. Joseph Dudley, serving three years on the Bertie county farm for criminal relations with a child, is pardoned, on the ground that newly-discovered evidence indicates that the man was not guilty.

Jack Palmer, serving three years for breaking into a storehouse in Wilson county, is pardoned because he has contracted tuberculosis, and it is believed imprisonment will kill him.

George Rhyne, serving a sentence in Gaston county for stealing bottles of Coca-Cola, is pardoned because he bore a good character, has been a model prisoner, and the pardon is urged by many citizens.

Just how much damage has been done to the trucking interests cannot be learned for a day or two. The storm was so bad that the graduating exercises of the city schools were postponed. Monday, although State Superintendent J. Y. Joiner delivered the commencement address, as scheduled.

Most of the bales were round ones and hardly anything but the bagging was damaged. Those who got the bales expect to realize a neat sum on their accidental though fortunate find.
